

I would like to voice my concern over the Pappas Companies' donation of airtime for Republican candidates. In this age of dog eat dog politics, I suppose nothing should surprise me. However, this has. Pappas Telecasting is using their media influence to unfairly impact the outcome of this election.

Pappas, I believe, is under an obligation to serve the public interest. How can this be done without an equal and fair representation of political views.

Again, it takes a lot to shock me. I've been voting since 1980. This is perhaps one of the worst abuses of media influence that I have ever seen.

Thank you for your time.
